

Wilder Play Is Next Weekend

First college theater presentation of the year — "The Skin of Our Teeth" — will be presented in the Chapel-auditorium at 8 p.m. next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The play, a comedy-fantasy by Thornton Wilder, is one of the three efforts by Wilder to win a Pulitzer Prize. Wilder may better be remembered for his play "Our Town," which is considered by many to be the most representative American play ever written.

Theme Is Faith

Central theme of "The Skin of Our Teeth" is man's faith in God and in his fellow man and the survival of humanity. The plot is unusual, with the three acts comprising various periods in the lives of the characters.

First act takes place in the Ice Age, second act during the Great Flood and the final act during The War.

In each situation man eventually comes through but only by "the skin of his teeth." It is only by faith in God and in his fellow men that a ray of hope exists for man—a promise that life can be better.

End Can Come Any Time

The play points out that the end of the world can come in many ways and at any time. All three situations presented in the respective acts could easily have caused the end of the world.

Staging is not conventional in the usual sense of the word, for some scenes actually take place in the aisles among the audience. At times the characters speak directly to the audience out of the realm of the play.

The play does not conform to the acceptable structure of most plays. In the words of one critic, "This play is as much fun as a three-ring circus."

Unusual Pets

As an example of the unusual quality of this play, the family pets are not the traditional dog or cat but rather a mammoth and a baby dinosaur.

Although there are actually three separate plays incorporated into one, the same family is involved in the various disasters and catastrophes which provide the basis for the three acts.

Although the play is filled with comedy, there are serious undertones present throughout. There is much food for thought to challenge the audience to discover the many symbolic references.

Six Parts Are Major

The six major roles are played by Kay Knopf, junior; Kathryn Koob, senior; Don Ehlers, senior; Don Hughes, freshman; Donnie Inman,

The United States sent this production to Europe as part of the cultural exchange program.

Activity tickets will admit both students and faculty members.

16 Chosen For Who's Who

Sixteen Wartburg seniors have been chosen to be listed in the 1961-62 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Tom Kuckkahn, Watertown, Wis.; Darlene Nintz, West Bend, Wis.; Margretha Radloff, Bird City, Kan.; Marilyn Rugroden, New Richmond, Minn.; Karen Simpson, Janesville; Al Snook, Coulter; Don Sowers, Sumner; and Claudette Zwicker, Turtle Lake, N.D.

Albers served both as sophomore and as junior class president. He was chairman of the Student Welfare Committee as a sophomore and as a junior. Albers has been a member of Chi Rho for three years, and this year is president.

Baker Busy

Many activities have filled Baker's college career. He has been freshman class president, class senator his sophomore and junior years, president of Castle Singers and Tri-Beta officer.

Miss Daggett, one of the varsity cheerleaders for the past three years, has been active in many phases of campus life. She was voted one of the Ten Best Dressed Girls last year.

Cathy Gammelin is presently Convo Committee secretary and Student Education Association treasurer. She was both class secretary and dorm president in her sophomore year.

Hora, this year's student body vice president, has been a member of Castle Singers, Chi Phi and KWAR. In addition, Hora was a Parish Mission Builder in the summer of 1960.

Goetz Is President

Goetz, senior senator, is also class president and chairman of the Academic Life Committee. He is president of Wartburg Choir and a member of Student Union Council, Chi Rho and the Concert Band.

Jepsen is the senior class vice president this year, after also serving as vice president as a junior. He has held office in Science Club for two years and is president of Alpha Chi this year.

Another of the senior senators is Gail Lovold. She is serving on the Artist Series Committee this year and has been secretary of the band and the Student Congregation.

Kuckkahn is student body treasurer. Last year he was chairman of the Social Activities Committee and was also a member of the Senate. In his sophomore year Tom was vice president of his class.

SB Secretary Is Nintz

Miss Nintz has been exposed to the various facets of governmental life at Wartburg. In the past, Darlene has been a member of Dorm Council, Women's Coordinating Board, the Trumpet staff and SEA.

This year Miss Radloff is filling the position of president of Wartburg Women Students Association and is also secretary of Alpha Chi and a member of the Academic Life Committee.

Leads Cheerleaders

Cheerleading captain, Miss Rugroden, was on this year's Homecoming Court. Last year she was Spring Sports Queen, North Hall Ambassador and treasurer of Vollmer Hall.

Miss Simpson was this year's Homecoming Queen. Miss Simpson has been W-Club Spring Sports Queen and Winter Sports Queen as well as Best Dressed Girl. This year Karen is president of Wartburg Hall.

Snook Prexy

Snook is best known on campus as student body president. He was chairman of both the Homecoming Dance and the Junior-Senior Prom during his junior year. As a sophomore, Snook was Elections Committee chairman.

Sowers, one of Wartburg's best athletes in recent years, was an All-Conference linebacker choice last year in football. He is also one of Wartburg's top hitters in baseball and is a member of W-Club, P. E. Club and SEA.

Claudette Zwicker has been an active member of the Wartburg Choir for three years as well as a member of LSA, Mission Fellowship and SEA.

THREE OF THE MAIN CHARACTERS — Kathryn Koob, Don Ehlers and Kay Knopf — go over their parts in rehearsals for "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Music First

Music from the musical "Lost in the Stars" will be the subject of the first of three programs based on the novel "Cry, the Beloved Country."

Dr. James Fritschel will present the music at 7:30 next Wednesday evening in Fuchs Lounge.

Lunch will be served following the program, according to the Academic Life Committee chairman, Milbern Goetz. This committee of the Student Senate is sponsoring the discussions.

Wartburg Parents Arrive For Fall Meeting Today

Approximately one hundred and fifty members of the Wartburg Parents Club arrived on campus today to participate in their first Fall Parents' Weekend.

"This weekend was selected," said the Rev. Martin Ackermann, development director, "because there is no football game or other activity scheduled."

Chance To Visit

"We wanted parents to have full opportunity to visit with faculty counselors and, of course, their students."

This morning parents had an opportunity to consult with faculty members. They also heard an address by Dean of Students E. F. Oppermann on "What the Dean Expects from Parents."

Parents were scheduled to attend a luncheon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church from 12:30-2:30 p.m. Dr. J. O. Chellebold, dean of faculty, spoke to them on the topic "What the Administration and Faculty Expect from Parents."

Open House In Dorms

Following a business meeting, open house will be held in the dormitories from 3-5 p.m.

Entertainment by Wartburg students will be included in the program scheduled for the evening buffet, which will also be held at St. Paul's.

Al Snook, student body president, will speak on "What the Student Expects from Parents."

Music, Spirit For Convo

Next week's convos on the Holy Spirit and music will conclude the communication phase of this year's convo series.

The Rev. Warren Quanbeck, professor of Systematic Theology at Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., will be the speaker at Tuesday's convo. He will talk on "The Communication of the Holy Spirit" in connection with Reformation Day tomorrow.

Returns From Tour

Professor Quanbeck has just returned from a tour of the Far East this summer.

On Thursday Dr. Richard Herwig from the Music Department of the State University of Iowa will be the speaker. His subject will be "Music as Communication."

This week's convos were also part of the same series and dealt with love and art as communication.

TOP MUSICAL FARE

Kenton Scores Hit Thurs.

By Jen Miller

Musical entertainment with a plus was presented at the Fall Pops Concert last Thursday night via Stan Kenton and his 23-piece orchestra.

Judging from the enthusiastic applause and spontaneous shouting which brought Kenton and his jazz musicians back for an encore, the audience of 950 thoroughly enjoyed the program.

Blues, Love Songs

Presented in the Chapel-auditorium last Thursday night, the program ranged from dramatic blues to moving love songs.

Included in the concert were two selections from the album "West Side Story" — "Maria," the theme song, and the hauntingly beautiful closing song, "Somewhere."

Kenton also included a brand of easy humor that evoked whole-hearted laughter.

Begun In 1930

This versatile showman began his professional career after graduating from high school in 1930.

"I received most of my instruction from private teachers," said Kenton. "I was 14 when I first started playing the piano, and I started arranging and composing when I was 15."

Although he used to play other instruments, Kenton said that he plays only piano now.

Starts Own Band

He started his own orchestra on June 6, 1941, with 13 members. That number has increased to 23. Youngest member of the band is 19, and the oldest, excluding Kenton, is 38.

Commenting on his European tour, Kenton said that the people in Europe are great fans of American music.

"The tour was interesting," he continued, "but it was hard work. We put on one show a day in this country, but we had to put on two a day over there. After two weeks everyone was exhausted."

Played In East

Prior to his appearance here, Kenton and his band played in the East for two months, including stops at New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

They are scheduled to perform one-night concerts for seven more weeks before returning to Hollywood, Calif., where they will begin work on recording three or four new albums. Their next tour is set for February.

"This auditorium is beautiful, and the acoustics are great," said Kenton, in regard to his appearance here. "I like the lighting very much. It's semi-classical."

CHATTING WITH KWAR News Director Terry Havel, band leader Stan Kenton tells how he started on the road to fame.

FROM THE EDITOR'S CHAIR

Resolutions By Alumni Appreciated

Alumni Association at its annual meeting Homecoming weekend passed six resolutions of possible interest to the present student body. Here we pass them along:

"Whereas the Student Senate this year, under the leadership of Allan Snook, has demonstrated imagination and vitality, thereby promoting greater interest and participation in student government, therefore be it resolved that the Wartburg College Alumni Association officially recognize these endeavors and commend student leadership.

"Whereas the Wartburg Trumpet has keenly reflected current developments in student government and activities, therefore be it resolved that the Wartburg College Alumni Association recognize and commend the editor and staff.

"Be it resolved that the Wartburg College Alumni Association prayerfully express thanks to Almighty God for the successful operation and recuperation of Pres. C. H. Becker, who continues to give faithfully his talents and service to our college.

"Whereas new intellectual vigor is evident in many phases of Wartburg's academic life this year, therefore be it resolved that Wartburg College Alumni Association recognize and commend such developments as the new convocations program, the reorganization of the campus radio station, the journalism workshops, the language laboratory and the new Christianity curriculum.

"Be it resolved that the Wartburg College Alumni Association recognize and heartily endorse the enthusiasm and vitality shown in the planning, programming and leadership of Alumni Director Bob Gremmels.

"Whereas the Wartburg College Alumni Association recognizes the importance of outstanding leadership in Christian Higher Education, therefore be it resolved that the WCAA offer a vote of confidence to the new additions to the faculty."

Wartburg: the place where everybody is somebody, or at least thinks so when cutting line.

Why is it that whoever sits in the middle of the row always comes late to convocations?

Wartburg profs are threatening to drop their own big A-bombs shortly — midsemester tests.

KNIGHTMARES

Life Of Optimistic Coach Traced Throughout Year

By Bob Johannsen

The career of a college coach is commonly set down for history, usually over a period of three or four years in the headlines of a local newspaper. I'd like to portray an even more auspicious mentor, one who has progressed through his job in one year.

For the most part, this procession will be displayed through the various newspaper headlines occurring over the year. It was headlines like these that gave rise to the expression "reading between the lines."

Johannsen

December—
Early Today Nixon State Announced the Acquisition of a New Head Football Coach. Jarrin Jack Riley, formerly an assistant at Southeastern Northwestern, accepted the post today with promises of a future football dynasty at State.

January—
The month was fairly uneventful. However, Jarrin Jack did comment on the bowl games. Jarrin Jack Predicts State Will Perform In Dust Bowl Soon! It may be noticed that the Dust Bowl is not a post-season game but rather an endearing term to describe State football facilities.

Jarrin Jack Urges Alumni to Give Their Interest to Football Program!

February—
Secretary of Alum Group Questioned Concerning Alleged Bribe Offers to Prospective Students! Newspaper editors regret one of their January headlines. So does Jack.

March-April—
There's very little new to report. Coach Riley is mysteriously missing from the scene. Fear has stricken the campus on reports that the NCAA is lurking in shrubs.

May—
The headlines were full of optimism, sweetened by the fact that seven lettermen were out for spring sports and would return in the fall to improve the squad even more.

June—
Conference Heads Meet; Need Plan Burdens State! The other seven conference teams have voted to formally drop the need plan which State dropped two years ago.

August—
Football Practice Begins in Earnest! Earnest is the name of the school's practice field. The newspaper has direct quotations from Riley through February:

"We will emphasize backfield." (They'd better, or the puny backfield they're fielding will play wheel chair basketball this winter.)

"I plan to give everyone an equal chance to make this team." (Why not? He has only two lettermen returning, and they're both fullbacks.)

"I plan to emphasize the fundamentals." (This means that he has players of a high school caliber.)

September—
"Prior to our first game, I can truthfully say that we have a team of individuals fighting for every position."

(They'll probably never be any more than a team of individuals either. Fighting for every position means only that he couldn't pick 11 decent starters out of the lot.)

"Our key man is our left-halfback." (He must do the punting.)

"I feel fortunate to have last year's defensive star back again." (It's his safety, the only safety in the league to lead his team in tackles.)

October—
"I think we should improve defensively during the last half of the season."

(It seems a scorer erred and subtracted two points from State rather than adding two points to the opponent. Hence, State is the only team in NCAA history to go through half a season and record a minus two for total points.)

"I'll never forget the Homecoming game, when we trailed 54-0. The crowd never gave up on us." (There've been numerous reports of drinking in the stands.)

December—
"I feel that we have an interested and active student body here." (Most certainly they do. The coach was hanged four times in effigy during the year.)

The following is simply a review of the Peace Corps and its program. It doesn't contain all of the information on the Peace Corps, and the procedures that are described will vary from one instance to another.

The Peace Corps has been set up to give the people of the United States an opportunity to provide economic, social and educational assistance by working directly with the people of other countries and to further the cause of peace through personal relationships and the development of mutual understanding.

Snook

Sometimes Sacrifices

The Peace Corps is looking for the highly motivated individual, who will go where his services are asked for and are needed, an individual who will work closely with the people he helps.

Any American citizen over 18 may apply for selection. Selection standards are high. Through written tests, physical examinations, interviews and observation, candidates will be screened successively for technical competence, maturity, physical condition and motivation.

Many Fields

Candidates who are selected as volunteers will serve as teachers, community development workers, construction foremen and workers, surveyors, librarians, social workers, mechanics, nurses, sanitation engineers and others. The list is almost inexhaustible.

The one thing that the Peace Corps stresses is that anyone who is thinking of volunteering should not disqualify himself.

Instead, he should fill out a Peace Corps Volunteer Questionnaire, and let the Peace Corps determine whether or not he is qualified.

Trained In Country

The volunteer receives training in this country for eight to twelve weeks and then additional training in the host country. There is a terrific language barrier for most volunteers to overcome, but Peace Corps officials say that they are proud of the way the volunteers have responded to the language training provided in the over-all training program.

Once the initial training period is over, the volunteer will be sent overseas for the usual length of service, which will be two years in most cases. Flexibility must be permitted to accommodate projects with certain difficulties and needs.

Can Raise Standards

The volunteers can help to raise the standards of living or to improve educational and social levels in the less-developed areas of the world.

However, the benefits of this program are not just one-sided. The effective volunteer will receive many rewards in his work. He will be enriched by the experience of knowing people of another culture as friends and fellow workers. His understanding of the world and its problems will be increased, and his horizons will be extended. Most important of all, the volunteer will contribute directly to world peace.

Help With Career

The Peace Corps has established a Career Planning Board to help returning volunteers find jobs at home. Each volunteer may personally consult with the board about his career. If a volunteer requests help, the expert in his chosen field will assist him.

If anyone would like more information on specific details of the Peace Corps, either Dean Earnest Oppermann or I will be glad to see that this information is made available.

PULLING GUARD DUANE Meier gets ready to throw a key block as full-back Ted Johnson goes around the right side against the Augustana Vikings.

Knights Invade Tigers' Lair

Wartburg returns to Iowa Conference play this afternoon at Iowa Wesleyan in Mount Pleasant. After suffering losses in the last four games, the Jomen will be trying desperately to get back on the winning trail.

The Tigers of Iowa Wesleyan are in seventh place in the Iowa Conference race at present. They have a 2-4 record.

In Fourth Place
Knights presently are tied for fourth place in the standings at 2-3 with Central and Buena Vista.

Even in defeat last week, Coach Norm Johansen saw a ray of hope in the second half when the Knights held Augustana while scoring a touchdown and a safety.

"It's tough to take our lumps now," Johansen said, "but it isn't so bad when there is some optimism about the future. Our underclassmen are gaining experience all the time."

Fulcher Doubtful
Regular halfback Bill Fulcher is still a doubtful starter today, although he may see limited action. He has been out the past three weeks with a shoulder injury, although he did see a little action last week.

Quarterback Jack McClelland joined center Terry Schneider and fullback Paul Stewart on the list of those out for the season with injuries. McClelland, regular quarterback, lasted only half a quarter against Augustana in his first action since receiving a knee injury in the opening game.

Lose Fourth
Wartburg took it on the chin for the fourth straight time last Saturday, dropping a non-conference game to Augustana, 20-8.

Augustana scored all its touchdowns in the second period on a pass interception and two runs. The last extra point try was blocked by Knight line-backer Eldon Ott.

Jomen did not score a touchdown until the last seven seconds of the game. End Tim Tower held on to a pass from Bob Nielsen, but the extra point try was wide.

Two Called Back
Wartburg actually scored twice before the final success—once with a pass to Nielsen and again with a pass to Tower—but neither touchdown counted because of penalties.

All-conference linebacker prospect Don Sowers got the other two points by dragging down a Viking back in the end zone for a safety.

Jaspers Has Job Rebuilding Knights

Wartburg's new basketball mentor gets his first look at the basketball team he inherits as the 1961-62 Knights begin practice Wednesday.

Fred Jaspers, basketball star under former Coach Ax Bundgaard, is faced with the job of replacing last year's top three scorers. To do the job, Jaspers is counting on five lettermen, a couple of juniors, five sophomores and possibly several freshmen.

Hein Is Gone

Biggest loss from last season's second-place squad is All-conference forward Don Hein, who dropped from school. Hein, 6' 5", led the Knights in rebounds and scoring last year, averaging 22.3 points per game. He was considered by many as the best shooter in the conference.

Wartburg's two other top scorers, Marv Ott and Dave Jensen, graduated in June. Ott was second high scorer with a 12.2 average. Jensen, who hit the hoop at an 8.7 clip, was a guard on the All-conference first team.

Because he was called into the service, Gary Medlang, who played a lot second semester, will be missing from the cage squad. Kermit Urbain, Reuben Drefs and Bob Harken are also gone.

Jaspers Looks Ahead

But Coach Jaspers is not looking on what was last season but what is this season. Lettermen returning are seniors Bob Mueller, Dar Oehlerich, Jim Borcharding, junior Dave Brunscheen and sophomore Al Buening.

Jaspers says he is hoping to get some help from juniors Len Schmidt and Francis Merrill and sophomores Ray Bye, Dave Langrock, Duane Kamrath, Dennis Krieger and John Hanson.

As the season progresses, Jaspers says he may get some help from the freshmen. Leading the first-year men are two all-stars, Bob Nielsen, who came with Coach Jaspers from Britt, and Harold Shudlick from Rice Lake, Wis.

IM Football Closing Soon

Four games were played in intramural football action last week as the season rapidly draws to a close.

In Tuesday's action Grossmann III upset Grossmann I-II-Basement, 13-0, and Clinton III handed Clinton I-Basement a 15-7 loss. Off-campus overran Clinton II, 34-0, while Grossmann I-II-Basement edged by Clinton I-Basement, 19-18, in Thursday's games.

Another upset occurred this week as Grossmann III stopped the fine Grossmann I-II-Basement team, 13-0. The Grossmann III defense stood up well, and Dave Shalkhauser scored two touchdowns, one on a run and one on a pass from Dick Crawford.

Off-campus rolled over Clinton II, 34-0, and wrapped up first-place finish in the standings. Off-campus has lost one, but second-place North Hall has two ties in addition to a loss.

Columnist Sees Gridiron Through Eyes Of Others

By Paul Baumgarten

It is occasionally interesting to read what someone else has to say on the subject of football in general and in particular. With this in mind, I decided to pass on some of the choice comments I have found in this week's reading.

Baumgarten

The first of the gems I came up with is by Thomas Hornsby Ferril from the Reader's Digest Press News Service:

"Obviously football is a syndrome of religious rites symbolizing the struggle to preserve the egg of life through the rigors of impending winter. The rites begin at the autumnal equinox and culminate on the first day of the New Year with great festivals identified with bowls of plenty; the festivals are associated with flowers such as roses, fruits such as oranges, farm crops such as cotton, and even sun worship and appeasement of great reptiles such as alligators

"The egg of life is symbolized by what is called 'the oval,' an inflated bladder. The convention is repeated in the architectural oval-shaped design of the vast outdoor churches in which the services are held . . . Literally millions attend . . . in anticipation of violent masochism and sadism about to be enacted by a highly trained priesthood of young men

"The ceremony begins with colorful processions of musicians and semi-nude virgins who move in and out of ritualized patterns. This excites the worshipers to rise from their seats, shout frenzied poetry in unison and chant ecstatic anthems."

That last paragraph reminds me — Mr. Lee must be having problems with bench strength. I didn't think the coaches were eligible in this league, though.

The next note I ran into occurred in that other great publication, The Portfolio from Parsons College.

It seems as if the columnist involved doesn't expect the Kelley Greens to remain in this conference much longer. He feels that they will soon overshadow all of the other teams in the Iowa Conference and inevitably wind up in the same league as S.C.I. and Grinnell.

The interesting thing is that on the same page is the headline "Wildcats Squeeze by Dubuque 6-2" in very large type, as well as a smaller story, telling of a cross-country defeat by Dubuque.

While a cross-country defeat at the hands of Dubuque might not be a thing to be ashamed of, it doesn't look too good just to squeeze past one of the conference's lower ranked teams in football.

My next treasure is just a headline from The Simpsonian. It reads, "It's Homecoming — Beat Luther." At least they were hopeful. It seems a shame though to get beat 74-25 on Homecoming.

Space and censorship forbid me to say any more than I already have. So I will close with a comment from the Buena Vista Tack:

"If you have any ideas (column-wise) other than my resignation, let me know."

"They come by the dozens . . . each with a diploma and a bright smile"

"More and more bright, personable, well-educated young men come to me for jobs these days. And it's often hard to make a decision. That's why, in addition to other qualities, I look for maturity and stability. Life insurance ownership is one of the things that indicates this to me."

This businessman is typical of today's employer. He is interested in the college man who can plan ahead—especially personal future security. So, it's reassuring to remember that as a Lutheran you can turn to our Brotherhood Provider Life Insurance Plan. For just 44¢ a day (based on age 25) you can own a $10,000 Brotherhood Provider Plan. And this is permanent, dividend-paying insurance that will help you build financial security for the future.

Next Week's Activities Include Various Battles

By Louise Loots

If you want to see a swell show, don't miss "Battle Hymn," campus movie being shown tonight in the Chapel-auditorium at 7:30. Starring Rock Hudson and Martha Hyer, this is the true story of Col. Dean Hess, clergyman turned fighter pilot, who gave his heart to the enemy—a group of Korean orphans. With the added attraction of color and Cinemascope, it's a show you won't want to miss.

Have you heard of being practical politically? Well, Leo Sweeny, Third District Republican chairman, seems to think it can be done. Come and see what he has to say on the subject at the Young Republicans' meeting on Thursday evening in Clinton Hall lounge. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

I really don't know whether or not I should ask you this, but have you looked under your bed lately? The reason that I ask is that every time I look under mine, a flurry of fluffy stuff comes rushing out at me. Each time I peer beneath the spread, the mysterious substance seems to have grown bigger and bigger. Pretty soon I'll be afraid even to peek.

Wonder what in the world it's doing under there, anyway. But I don't think we should bother telling our moms about it while they're here for Parents' Weekend today and tomorrow, do you? They probably wouldn't be interested anyway.

Ever wondered what it must have felt like to see tons of ice creeping up on you during the Glacier Age? Or tried to imagine how it felt to be caught in the middle of the Flood? Somehow or other, through the ages, man has gotten through all these crises, often just barely making it. But he did, and thus we have the play by Thornton Wilder to prove it.

For a really delightful account of these narrow escapes, be sure to see "The Skin of Our Teeth," the college play to be given next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Chapel-auditorium. The curtain will open each night at 8 for a play I'm sure you will all find terrifically humorous and enjoyable.

One more thing—don't forget to make it up to Iowa Wesleyan for the game at 2 this afternoon. That ol' Spirit must be hiding there somewhere. Right? Right! So all we have to do is look for him. O.K.? O.K.! Now that that's all settled, how can we help but have a good game? See you there.

Students Conduct Radioactivity Tests To Determine Atomic Fallout In Iowa

By Jen Miller

"The sad part about radioactivity," said Dr. A. W. Swensen, head of the Chemistry Department, "is that you can't run away from it."

Dr. Swensen made this statement while commenting on Russia's 30-megaton atomic explosion last Monday. He has been studying radioactivity for 10 years and is licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Will Jeopardize Health

"Russia is going to, without a doubt," continued Dr. Swensen, "jeopardize the health of the whole world if she continues such tests."

The effects of increased radioactivity would be especially harmful to children, according to Dr. Swensen, because of the concentrated amount of radioactive Strontium 90 found in milk.

"There is no apparent danger from radioactivity right now," emphasized Dr. Swensen, "but continued testing will have a detrimental effect on the health of people all over the world.

Can't Avoid It

"You can avoid a burning house," he continued, "but you have to live in the atmosphere."

Each day the radioactivity count is recorded on the chart located outside Room 310 in Luther Hall by students.

Since Tuesday the count has been rising again after a drop Sunday. During the month of October the count has been between 45 and 55 compared to a high of 67 on Sept. 21. Normal is around 30 to 40. The amount the body can tolerate is unknown.

Down, Then Up

Since Sept. 27 the trend for the radioactivity count has been downward until last week, when it began rising because of increased testing by Russia, according to Dr. Swensen.

He is confident that the rise which began last Tuesday will continue.

Debaters In First Action

Debate team members are at the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, today to participate in their first meet of the year.

Debating on the affirmative side of the question "Resolved, That labor organizations should come under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation," are senior Wendell Debner and freshman Kathe Lewellan. Debating negatively, are senior Al Putz and special student Frank Thomas.

Next trip for the debate is to Parsons Nov. 10 and 11. Also on the year's itinerary are trips to Northwestern University, Minneapolis, University of Nebraska and the Black Hills, South Dakota.
